HOW KERBS, WERTHEIM & STEIFFER, CIGARMAKERS, WERE ROBBED.

er of the employes were in collusion with the fore-nan, Frank Hazeli, in systematically swinding the rds, which the girls presented as voucnaid them. Stern appeared in court Thursday with wo of the girls and asked for a warrant for lazel's arrest, which was granted immediately, and Court Officer Cavanagh sent to make the arrest. Before he reached the factory Hazel in some any got wind of the matter and escaped from a arrentance, leaving his hat and coat on his land.

The Hindoo jugglers who have been having trouble and relieved them of their pecuniary embarrass-ment. Mr. Sajun says, on their representation, which he believes, that they agreed with their for-mer manager for a tour of twelve months in Eng-land and America They were to receive their board mer manager for a tour of twelve months in England and America They were to receive their board and clothes and were each to have a lump sum and their passage-money back to India. It was a verbal agreement. They kept their part of it for over twelve months and became satisfied that their manager did not intend to keep his. They refused to go on unless assured of receiving their pay when due. Their manager refused any guarantee, and told them they must either go on or lose what they had earned. He also left them in Major Pond's office and made his escape through a back door to the front of the Everett House. The jugglers ran out the front door and headed him off, and begged of him to give them some satisfaction. He refused, and, pulling off his coat, created a scene that no one has yet been able to account for, as the Hindoos are very docile, more like children than men.

Their former manager has cancelled his agreement with them and informed them that they are, at liberty to make any other arrangement, and today a contract was signed by them with Major J. B. Pond for fifteen months, M. E. Sajun becoming surety for their fulfilment of the same. Mr. Sajun says that according to their Hindoo religion they dare not touch ardent spirits; that instead of squedering money, if they had it, they would hoard and hold it next to their lives, and for that reasuit is stipulated in the contract that each shall have his money and his passage ticket home when the contract expires.
